As a passionate and versatile IT professional, I am excited to present my background in system configuration, technical support and web development. I bring hands-on experience working with Linux distributions, Windows Server 2019, multiboot setups, data recovery, and customer-centric solutions. Whether I'm building a modern client website, troubleshooting legacy hardware, or configuring servers for educational or enterprise environments, I approach each project with precision and purpose.

What sets me apart is my practical mindset, collaborative nature, and eagerness to solve real-world problems with technology. I focus on creating functional solutions that make a difference.

If you're seeking a dedicated IT technician or support specialist who is as comfortable configuring backend infrastructure as they are working with clients face-to-face, I would be thrilled to connect and explore how I can contribute to your team.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Phillip Tritz
